

Sheldwich Primary School

Literacy Glossary of Terms

Term	Definition	Example	Context
expanded noun phrase, verb phrase		when we went out	When we went out it was raining.
apostrophe	An apostrophe is a punctuation mark used to indicate either omitted letters or possession.	Omitted letters when a verb is contracted or shortened: I'm (I am) They've (They have) It's (It is/It has) Isn't (Is not) Possession: The cat's tail (one cat) The boys' coats (many boys) The parents' car The children's toys (children is a plural)	NB: The dog is eating one of its (apostrophe not used for possession) bones. It's (apostrophe used for omission - It is) the biggest dog I've seen.
brackets parenthesis	A parenthesis is a word or phrase inserted into a sentence to explain or elaborate. It may be placed in brackets or between dashes or commas.	()	Sam and Emma (his oldest children) are coming to visit him next weekend. The clown - a colourful character - laughed out loud. Sarah is, I believe, our best student.

Term	Definition	Example	Context
adjective	A word that describes someone or something. This includes comparatives and superlatives.	big helpful bigger/biggest	He put the apples in the big basket. The old lady was assisted by the helpful girl.
adverb	Adds to the meaning of a verb, an adjective, another adverb or a whole sentence.	Adverb+verb thoroughly enjoyed Adverb+adjective quietly confident Adverb+adverb extremely slowly Adverb+sentence really, he should know better! How - slowly, happily Where - outside, upstairs When - yesterday How often - regularly	The bull grazed noisily in the field. The small boy quickly fixed the puncture on his bike.
adverbials / adverbial phrase see also: phrase,	A group of words that function in the same way as a single adverb.	quietly a few days ago	The children walked quietly . They left a few days ago .

Term	Definition	Example	Context
clause (+ subordinate and main) see also complex sentence	A clause is a group of words that expresses an event or a situation. It contains a noun (subject) and a verb.	NB a clause differs from a phrase Phrase: a big dog Clause: a big dog chased me Adverbial clause: It was raining when we went out. Noun clause: What you said was not true.	The dog chased the ball when the boy (subject) threw (verb) it.
colon	A colon is a mark used to introduce a list or a following example. It may be used before a second clause that expands or illustrates the first.	▪ ▪	Animals: cat, dog, mouse He was very cold: the temperature was below zero.
comma	A punctuation mark used to help the reader by separating parts of a sentence. A comma is either used: to separate items in a list; to mark off extra information;	,	I wore a coat, scarf, hat and gloves. The teacher, Mrs Jones, wore a coat. Although it was cold, no-one was wearing a coat.

Term	Definition	Example	Context
	after a subordinate clause which begins a sentence; with many connecting adverbs.		Anyway, in the end I decided not to have a go.
comma splice	When the writer is experimenting with clauses within sentences but has not yet secured control of sentence demarcation. When commas are inappropriately used to punctuate clauses or phrases in complex sentences, where a full stop or connective is needed.	Running down the road, Harry could not see where he was, he tripped over the pavement. Should be: Running down the road, Harry could not see where he was. He tripped over the pavement. OR: Running down the road, Harry could not see where he was so he tripped over the pavement. Jane was crying, she was afraid. Should be: Jane was crying. She was afraid. OR: Jane was crying because she was afraid. complex sentence see also: sentence for simple and compound sentences	A complex sentence is a sentence with a main clause and at least one subordinate clause .	When I saw what you had done, (subordinate clause) I was sad (main clause). Sam loved to play tennis (main clause), although he wasn't very good at it (subordinate clause).

Term	Definition	Example	Context
compound word	A word made up of two other words.	rainbow football sometimes	Sometimes you can see a rainbow when there is rainfall and sunshine together.
connective see also conjunctions	A word or phrase that joins ideas in different parts of a text: clauses, sentences or paragraphs. Connectives can be conjunctions or connective adverbs.	Simple connective: and, Reason: because Additions: also, furthermore Time indicators: meanwhile, later Opposition: but, however, on the other hand Reinforcing: besides, after all Indicating result: so that, therefore, consequently Explaining: For example, in other words Listing: First of all, secondly	The boy and girl played together on the sand while the parents sat on the deckchairs. I was angry, but didn't say anything to my friend. On the other hand , the dog was quite friendly with children.

Term	Definition	Example	Context
conjunction see also connective	A word used to link clauses within a sentence. See Grammar for Writing glossary for co-ordinating/subordinating conjunctions.	and, but, or, if, when, after, although, while	It was raining but it wasn't cold. Do you want to go out or shall we wait a bit longer? We were hungry because we hadn't eaten all day. Although we'd had plenty to eat, we were still hungry.
content word (also lexical words)	Subject specific words - normally words in the four word classes of noun, verb, adjective and adverb.	blue toga evaporation	The blue toga was worn by the powerful emperor .
derivational prefix/suffix	Give related words different meanings and /or change the word class	(adjective to adverb) quick - quickly (addition of ly) (Adjective to noun) modern - modernity prince/princess unimportant dashes	A dash may be used to replace other punctuation marks (colons, semi-colons, commas) or brackets.	-	It was a great day out - everybody enjoyed it. The dog - who barked loudly - ran down the road.

Term	Definition	Example	Context
digraphs	Two letters that together represent a sound (phoneme)	Vowel digraphs: ea, ir, oo, ow, ai Consonant digraphs: ch, th, ss, ll, ff expanded noun phrase see also: phrase, adverbial phrase, verb phrase	A group of words that function in a sentence like a noun. They expand a single noun giving more information economically.	The demon-like teacher with blood-shot eyes The mysterious woman in black The sporty red car with a sunroof	The tall, imposing monument was made from cool, white marble .
grammatical function (non lexical words)	The syntactic relationships between words - the job that each word does in a sentence / phrase/ clause. Words within a sentence that perform a function and have little identifiable meaning - normally preposition, determiner, conjunction and pronoun.	e.g. the, a, these	He (pronoun) gave me (pronoun) this (determiner) book before (preposition) I (pronoun) went out quickly (adverb) and (conjunction) played.

Term	Definition	Example	Context
homophone	Words which sound the same, but are spelt differently and have different meanings	flour/flower aloud/allowed board/bored new/knew	We are not allowed to shout aloud in the corridor.
inflected words	A change to the ending of a word to indicate tense, number or other grammatical features. Doesn't change word class.	play: playing, plays, played lonely: lonelier, loneliest house, houses	The lonely boy plays on his own. The loneliest boy was playing on his own.
lexical words (also content words)	Words that carry information. They are also known as content words or information words. Normally nouns, verbs, adjectives, adverbs.	Animals' specific names mammal carnivore	Snakes are reptiles which can be venomous . Conductors are materials that allow electricity to flow through them.
morpheme (+ suffix /prefix)	The smallest unit of meaning. A word may contain one or more morphemes. Suffixes and prefixes are morphemes NB a free morpheme stands alone while a bound morpheme needs the rest of the word.	- house - house/keep/er (house and keep are free morphemes; the suffix 'er' is a bound morpheme) Examples of single morpheme words are: rain, come, run, go, have, school, play, ground, sad, happy, whistle, grow, whisper,

Term	Definition	Example	Context
nominalisation - for succinctness	Succinct phrasing which conveys key information appropriately for the purpose of a piece of writing. Sentences that have been shortened because words have been removed, but are more effective.	No smoking Bullet-pointed list made up of phrases rather than sentences. Instructional text with simple actions and not adjectives or adverbs.	Often found in non-fiction writing, such as reports, adverts, posters. I saw a pirate who had a long face and a fierce look on his face. > I saw a fierce, long-faced pirate. noun see also: expanded noun phrase	A word that denotes somebody or something. Proper nouns are the names of people, places or things. A collective noun refers to a group.	Common nouns: person, electricity Abstract nouns: happiness Proper nouns: Birmingham, November Collective nouns: people, games, herd	My younger sister won some money in a competition.
paragraph	A section of a piece of writing. Marks a change of focus, time, place or speaker. Helps writers organise thoughts, readers to follow the story-line.	A new paragraph begins on a new line usually with a gap separating it from the previous paragraph. A new paragraph may also be indented.

Term	Definition	Example	Context
phrase see also: adverbial phrase, expanded noun phrase, verb phrase	A group of words that act as one unit to replace a single word.	noun phrase: a big dog adjectival phrase: as old as you adverbial phrases: five minutes ago; in a hurry	They were in a hurry when they left five minutes ago .
prefix	A prefix is a morpheme which is added to the start of a root word	Mis - wrong/badly Sub - under Pre - before in time, in front of, superior	I am so misunderstood. We walked through the subway Dinosaurs are prehistoric animals.
pronoun	Can replace a noun or noun phrase to make sentences less repetitive. There are several kinds: - Personal: specific person - Possessive: ownership - Interrogative: questions - Relative: links phrases and clauses - Indefinite: refers to	- personal - I/me/you - possessive - mine yours - interrogative - who/whom - relative - which/whoever - indefinite -	I am happy. - That drink is mine. - Who is the main character? - The owl who was afraid of the dark. - Does anyone know where I put

Term	Definition	Example	Context
	unspecified person ▪ Reflexive - subject of the sentence	another/anyone ▪ reflexive - myself/himself	my glasses? ▪ The runner was very proud of himself when he won the race.
punctuation	The most commonly used punctuation marks in English are: apostrophe, brackets (parenthesis), colon, comma, dash, ellipsis, exclamation mark, full stop, hyphen, semi-colon, speech marks and question mark.
sections	When information is grouped together but is not organised into paragraphs.
semi-colon	A semi-colon can be used to separate two main clauses in a sentence. Semi-colons can also be used to separate items in a list if these items consist of longer phrases.	. ;	I liked the book; it was a pleasure to read. I wanted some ripe, juicy tomatoes; a large can of olive oil; half a pound of unsalted butter; and a jar of black olives.

Term	Definition	Example	Context
sentence	A sentence can be simple, compound or complex.	A simple sentence consists of one clause. A compound sentence has two or more clauses joined by and, but or so. Each clause has equal weight - both main clauses. A complex sentence consists of a main clause which itself consists of one or more subordinate clauses.	It was late. It was late but I wasn't tired. Although it was late, I wasn't tired. speech marks	In text speech marks (also called inverted commas or quotes) mark the beginning and end of direct speech. Direct speech is the speaker's original words - as in a speech bubble.	' ' " " or	Helen said, ' I'm going home. ' "What do you want?" I asked. subordinating connective	A connecting word introducing a subordinate clause in a sentence. It	although that because	Although I had saved up, (subordinate clause) I still did not have enough money.

Term	Definition	Example	Context
see also: clause, subordination, sentence,	determines the relationship of meaning between the subordinate and main clause.	until before whereas subordination see also: clause	The use of main and subordinate clauses within a sentence. A subordinate clause does not make sense on its own.	If you push that button,when you finish painting.	Unless you pack your case , you won't be able to go on holiday. You may have an accident if you do not take care when you cross the road.
suffix	A suffix is a morpheme which is added to the end of a root word.	walking helpful comfortable	I was talking to Sam. The car crash was accidental. That behaviour is not acceptable.
syntax	Syntax is the study of sentence structure: how words interrelate to form sentences / clauses. It is the understanding of how nouns, verbs etc work together.
tense inflection	The ending of a verb which denotes tense.	ed	he played they hurried unstressed syllables	A beat in a word that is not sounded out.	parli ^a ment lib ^a rary gover ^a ment inter ^a esting

Term	Definition	Example	Context
		different generally marvellous literacy memor a ble (see Spelling Bank Page 52 for more examples) verb phrase/chain see also: phrase, adverbial phrase, expanded noun phrase	Two or more words that express an action or state of being.	are going didn't like has been waiting	I have been standing here for a long time.
vowel digraph see also digraph for consonant digraphs	Where two vowels or one vowel and a consonant work together to make one sound.		ow oe ai or

For further definitions refer to Grammar for Writing glossary.